

THE CNH KEY

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

HEY CNH KEY CLUBBERS!

It's club rush season! Perhaps most of you already had your Club days, but that doesn't mean that recruitment stops! You can still capture all those innocent, wandering freshman (haha, kidding) by getting Key Club more popular in your schools and communities! We have some promotion ideas waiting for you in this issue!

Speaking of this issue, I felt very tempted to add in all these little comments on the side while making it, but decided that it was best to just stick all of those urges here. In this issue, we'll kick it off with some awesome icebreaker ideas to get your meetings cracking! Then we'll get to the good stuff: Fall Rally, RTC's, and DCM's! And the fun doesn't stop there! Next are some new creative ways to catch in new members because you know you want to recruit, recruit, recruit! And wait, there's more! Members reflect on their first meeting ever or tell you about their first meeting for the year of 2009! And of course throughout this entire issue are interesting events that other clubs did that you can try out!

Remember. I love articles. So keep sending them in, you bees are making me so proud. It brings a tear to my eye. :)

RTC's have also officially kicked off! I just went to Region 12's RTC on the 19th and it was amazing! Don't miss out on your RTC—register if you still have time! Fun, service, and info all packed into one event with all your best friends, what could be better?

The Mnemonic Name Game

First, everyone must sit or stand in a circle. Once that circle is made, let the game begin! A person starts by saying his or her first name followed by the name of a food with the same letter as his or her name (Ex. Larry Lasagna or Sandy Sardines). The next person repeats the first person's name and then adds his or her own. This goes around the circle, each person repeating all the previous names. Although it is nearly impossible to do such a task with a large group, the harvested amusement is worth the time. This game is a great way to remember fellow key clubber names, and who knows, the next day you may be referred to as Fred the fish!

Note: feel free to use something other than food

Scavenger Hunt:

Hide various key club oriented objects in differing locations. Print out a set of instructions directing the members to these items. Make sure to encourage key clubbers to get into groups and introduce one another. After an object is found, have different groups be formed, that way people will not be secluded to one particular group.

Michelle Le | DIVISION 4N | La Quinta High School

Huggie-Bear:

The object of this game is to hug the number of people that is yelled out. For example, if I yell out 2, people have to hug each other in groups of 2, and so forth. The people who don't have anyone to hug are out. This game is a great icebreaker because you meet different people in your club.

Guess-what's-on-your-back Game:

Everyone gets a piece of paper taped on their backs of random things (movie stars, TV shows, etc, whatever you like). Then, each person goes around asking each other for clues about what's on their backs. Whoever gets it first, gets a prize, etc. This is also a great icebreaker because people get to interact with each other and learn each other's names when they ask for clues.

The Human Knot:

In this game, everyone holds hands. Then, you all go under each other's arms one at a time until everyone has gone under at least one. You basically make a knot, and then untangle yourselves. This is a great icebreaker because your members get to work together.

Henry Phung | DIVISION 4N | La Quinta High School

Toilet Paper Game:

So you have a roll of toilet paper and a group of people. You tell the group that we're going camping and that everyone takes enough toilet paper for themselves. After everyone has enough, you tell them that for every square of toilet paper they have, they must share something about themselves.

Pair-Share:

Find someone you don't know and introduce yourself to them (and be creative, share some interesting facts). Afterwards, everyone introduces their partner to the Club.

Mandy Lam | DIVISION 07S | Monterey Trail

Two Truths and a Lie:

Members will write two truths and one lie about themselves on a piece of paper. A circle will be formed and each person would read their statements aloud while members would engage in the activity by guessing which one is the lie.

Simon Says:

The leader 'Simon' will purposely announce members to perform actions that involve interaction with each other. An example would be to demand individuals to link arms with partners who are wearing a specific color.

Autograph Bingo Game:

All participants will mingle and find people that match interesting facts listed on a bingo card.

Red Rover:

Two teams will line up facing one another. Each team transitions and calls a member from the other team to approach them. The distinguished individual will charge towards the other team and attempt to break their chain.

OC FOOD BANK

Another Key Club adventure at the OC food bank and the warehouse was packed full of workers and volunteers. It was great to see so many people wake up early and give up their time to help the poor and needy. The GGHS Key Club also met a man who gave quite an inspiring speech to change our perspective on how to work at the OC food bank. He was a kind man and I did have a pretty good time at the warehouse.

It was also a really nice sociable event where we were able to talk and work at the same time. The workers were

" We spent about two hours at the food bank but it seemed to go by so fast because of how productive the work was. "

- Michelle Hour

also very kind to the volunteers, even though I was clueless on what to do stepping through the lot. We had much work done in such little time during our stay.

After we were done with our services at the OC food bank, we decided to fill ourselves up with some Denny's. It was sure fun talking about our stay at the OC food bank and what jobs we had. I would have to say that the OC food bank is quite a successful company that helps the poverty and I'm glad that I had the chance to contribute to the cause.

LIGHT THE NIGHT WALK 2009

The Light the Night Walk , Orange County, hosted by the Leukemia and lymphoma Society, was held at Anaheim Angels Stadium on August 22, 2009. Their mission to raise awareness and money to ultimately find a cure for cancer. The money will go to critical programs that help cancer patients and to research into finding a cure. For my school, we first walked with our division through the set course, and then spent a couple hours after volunteering by helping clean up the venue. The walk took us around Angels Stadium before taking us inside, first around the field and then through multiple levels of the stadium.

Prior to the walk, there was a buildup. The division's DCM took place and following that, my friends and I explored some of the booths.

We were given food, courtesy of Chi-Fila, and water courtesy of Stater Bros. A several people within my school were given balloons with lights in them. the red balloons signified that we were supporters of the cause behind the walk that was taking place. At 7p.m., the walk officially started.

" Many lives were being saved by us Key Clubbers, just by taking a short amount of our time to walk the Light the Night Walk and donate a small donation. "

- Kimberly Le

To describe my experience in one word, I would have to say it was weird. It was weird because I haven't seen the stands up close, but empty. The previous times that I have gone to the stadium it was to attend an Angels game. The walk allowed my access to view both dugouts and to walk onto the field that seem so far away when I attend the games. The rest of my club and I took many pictures and walked ever so slowly to just take everything in.

Following the walk, we had volunteered to be part of the cleanup crew. We picked a lot of trash and gathered an entire box full of recyclables. We helped take down signs, put away tables and chairs, moved things from place to place, and popped a lot of balloons. It was a fun experience that I would wholeheartedly do again.

KATHLEEN SORIANO | DIVISION 07S | PLEASANT GROVE

When the school year started, I had to deal with the “back-to-school blues” – homework, waking up early, and assessments were definitely not things that I missed over the summer.

What I dearly missed, was definitely Key Club. Though we had many service events throughout the summer, I was most excited starting Key Club because not only do we get to meet new underclassmen that have potential to take a higher leadership role in Key Club, but to undertake many adventures in the club.

“ The perfect day for teens I would say...I would devour the weaklings who have no spirit, if there are any at all.”

-Monica Nguyen

Which was one of my top adventures I was ready to embark on?

The infamous Fall Rally North.

Saturday, October 24, written in large letters in my Key Club planner.

Fall Rally is an amazing way to start off the school year! It is a great way for the new members to see how beneficial and exhilarating being a member in Key Club can be.

What adds to my excitement is that our club is part of the newly established Division 7 South! We are going to do our best to create an amazing first impression to everyone from Northern California.

What’s NOT to love about Fall Rally? First off, we are raising money for Pediatric Trauma Prevention. We get to meet so many new people throughout Northern California. The spirit all Key Clubbers have is just so free and carefree, basically you just let yourself loose and you scream as loud as you can – in how many places in the world can you do that? And last but not least, who doesn’t love bottomless soda? Of course, that complements with the many trips to the public bathrooms.

This is my last year in Key Club, and I hope to have the best time in Fall Rally out of all my four years I have attended. This will be a memorable experience for myself as an officer, and I know it will leave a lasting imprint on the new members of our club.

“ The amount of excitement and spirit infused in the event gets even the quietest person to scream the “how do you feel” cheer.

-Nicole Hisatomi

I’m counting the days where I can deck out in our divisional colors, and scream like there’s no tomorrow.

“ The arrays of colors of the people there will surely wake you up. ”

SOUTH

Shirley Lam | DIVISION 35 West | Sierra Vista High

“Division 35 West, YES!
We are the BEST!”

See? We are ready to shine at Fall Rally South in Valencia, California this year! (By the way, I just made that up right now .)

It’s hard to believe that it’s almost been a year since last year’s Fall Rally South. As many remember, Fall Rally South in 2008 was postponed due to a wind-driven fire near Six Flags Magic Mountain. Fall Rally South then became “Winter Rally” as it was postponed to December 13th. However, that certainly did not spoil our spirit to fundraise for Pediatric Trauma Program!

This year, we are rigorously preparing to battle with other Key Clubbers with our spirited cheers and our determination to raise more money for PTP.

Usually, there are three sessions in which different divisions attend (because we’re such a big group!). The session is a great place where divisions are gathered to spirit-battle, show off our divisional cheers, and raise money for PTP.

Walking on memory lane, I remember how excited I felt as I stepped into the Golden Bear Amphitheater for the first time 3 years ago. I had to cover my ears to block out some of the Key Clubbers’ hearty chants. I quickly shuffled to my seat and cheered along proudly with the rest of my fellow peers. Time flew by; it was time for adventures in the theme park!

At the end of the day, I realized that my attendance donated to a very meaningful charity. I also grasped the fact that Key Club provides so much service and if I were to just take a small step further into assisting those in need in my community, then I’d be a true Key Clubber.

Just like the past few years, I look forward to seeing most of you at Fall Rally South this year. It will be a great experience!

“ The chaotic madness labeled as key club spirit that ensues is just an experience that people have to witness to truly understand why so many people become Key Clubbers in the first place. ”

- Stephanie Nguyen

Jenny Huynh | DIVISION 35W | Baldwin Park Key Club

Fall Rally -What does a Key Clubber like me look forward to, every year? FALL RALLY!

Yes, Fall Rally is held every year at Six Flags Magic mountain for Key Clubs, and it also helps out pediatric trauma and boost the Key Club spirit for every member. The great exciting atmosphere, the thrilling rides, the awesome grub and drinks, the loud cheers that are done as a group and the envy of the turtle hats of Division 10, is what I experience every year at Fall Rally. I enjoy the diversity seen upon the many clubs that come together to enjoy this celebration of community services, and the many faces seen from Nevada and Hawaii.

“ BRING IT ON... cheers and spirit! ”

- Frances Huynh

Fall Rally, what an event to communicate as one and to come together as one to face the challenges to help the community, to enjoy meeting and making new friends, to be brought together away from the books and tests. Fall Rally is also where I can enjoy squealing and squeezing the hands of my other friends shouting “I hate you for making me do this” but also “ I love you for making me do that”. It is also a place where thunder sticks and silly chants / dances are welcomed. It is where fun is shared among the many young Key Clubbers to run around and beat other groups to the line of Goliath or The Riddler. It is also where super hero capes are worn, to show the greatness of a Key Clubber’s side. And the most important of all, it is where my inner child is welcomed to come out and play.

REGIONAL TRAINING CONFERENCE

JULIE NGUYEN | DIVISION 07S | MONTEREY TRAIL

There is so much to look forward to this year, but I am really excited for Regional Training Conference for Region 16. Schools from Divisions 7 South, 7 North, 27, 44 South, and 44 North are coming to show their spirit and train their officers. From what I have heard, RTC is similar to a mini-District Convention. There are many training sessions for various types of Key Clubbers. Also divisions can proudly show their spirit with colorful attire to battle. I really want to defeat the bees, frogs, and others in spirit battles.

This will be my first ever RTC and I am looking forward to meeting Key Clubbers from around Region 16. I have yet to meet Key Clubbers outside of Division 7 North and South. There is the possibility of another Julie Nguyen in Division 27 or my complete opposite in Division 44 North. All this thinking and writing about RTC has me completely pumped up for September 19. Everyone is meeting at Sacramento City College, because we are at the center of the region. There, Ryan Chang will also be conducting our September Divisional Council Meeting. I'm going to make sure I know all of the division's cheers to be prepared.

Through all these events and trainings and meetings, I hope to become a successful bulletin editor. Maybe my future will be brighter because of all my involvement in community service, innovativeness, leadership, and caring.

Khanh Duong | DIVISION 4 N | Bolsa Grande Key Club

School is definitely in and it is almost time for Region 3's Regional Training Conference! It's going to be quite exciting to reunite with the 6,000 members in the Rainbow Region. After the huge success of the Officer Training Conference, everyone is looking quite forward to RTC in which Division 41 North will be hosting this year.

Similarly to the previous year, the RTC this year will be held at the Orange Coast College (OCC). I will be sure to reserve October 10th especially for this event. It is highly important for all members in the region to attend this conference. Why's that? I know that there will be many workshops available, two humongous general sessions, a spirit battle, special guest speakers, and many more!

Our Cal-Nev-Ha District Governor Jesse Truong will be making an appearance to his home region as well. I'm looking very much forward to a day filled with an abundant information about Key Club, the gathering of Region 3, meeting fresh faces, and everything else that RTC has to offer.

DIVISIONAL COUNCIL MEETING

Teresa Nguyen | DIVISION 04N | La Quinta High School

Some may think I'm pretty odd to look forward to the September DCM. To me, the September DCM is like a fresh start filled with new members and new teachings of what KEY Club really is to these members. As a club secretary and a divisional secretary, it makes my heart happy and warm to see so many members attending a project or a DCM as I take attendance. The higher the attendance, the happier I am!

The main reason why each person in Cali-Nev-Ha KEY Club should look forward to this month's DCM is the fact that there will be new faces around which will lead to new friendships and the continuing knowledge of this club.

So why not come out to your local Divisional Council Meeting and see how this meeting will be the greatest divisional meeting to start off the 2009-2010 KEY Club term. I assure you, there will be so many new faces that you have the urge to just shout to them, "HOW DO YOU FEEL!?"

WEEDING FUN

So our key club is involved with an organization called Hug a Tree Club. Well any way, we have been maintaining a garden near our school for about a year now. We have been there since the beginning when we first planted the seeds and plan to stay till the end. When I saw the seeds sprouting way back then, I was just amazed. I couldn't believe I actually did that. Then a couple of weeks later, the vegetables started getting bigger and bigger. You know I thought that taking care of this garden would be easy as pie. I mean all we really had to do was water. But I was wrong. While the plants are all growing, so are weeds.

Over the summer, weeds accumulated and got huge. So on Sunday, we decided to finally get rid of them. This sounds like nothing much, but you weren't the one outside for two hours in the scorching heat fob squatting to pull them out. So trust me, it was pretty hard.

Now the garden looks much better since we weeded it. I can tell that we are going to be growing lots of stuff there. I truly feel that we are one step closer to saving the world.

FOOD PACKING

Saturday of August 29th, we were assigned a task to help an organization who was giving bags of canned food to the less fortunate living in motels. This was not a good day for it was hotter than any other day of the week. But it's for the good of the world (as Steven would say). When we arrived in the back parking lot of a church off Galway, we were greeted by the volunteer coordinator. She instructed us to count green bags that should total up 280 for canned foods to be stuffed with. When the numbers were correct she then instructed us to take out pre stuffed bags and count them as well. We did and all 68 of them. We then progressed to putting the cans inside them however there was a miscalculation on the number and types of cans to be put in. There was mass chaos and confusion, but we improvised on the cans and life goes on. Soon other people began to arrive and helped us out. When were finished we assembled them back into the shed from which it came from.

Michelle Hour | DIVISION 4N | Garden Grove

THE HOUSE OF H.O.P.E.

One of our ongoing projects during the school year is tutoring at Helping Other Prepare for Eternity, an organization that helps low-financed families. Since it's summer, Garden Grove High School Key Club has made various visits to H.O.P.E. For the month of August, we visited three times. For each visit, we took files from the cabinets to sort out some information - such as food benefits, how long each individual has been involved with H.O.P.E., and more. We worked as a team to get the job done faster. Some of us were to hole-punch the papers, some of us put papers in each folder, and the others would record each information on a piece of paper. There were tons of files but we got a lot of work done in just two hours because we worked in a system that made the job get done faster than it normally would have been done.

KEY CLUB PROMOTION

EYVETTE SOU | DIVISION 07S | SHELDON

With the summer over and a new upcoming year, new members are wanted in every club. At Sheldon High School, we have been working all summer on finding a way to recruit new members and promote Key Club. We have brainstormed ideas from posters to candy grams. We are slowly checking off our list of promotions, hopefully finishing it by the end of the year.

“ Our club will pass out candy because sweets appeal to people easily. ”

-Michelle Le

On September 9th, at Sheldon high school, we experienced our first club rush of the year. Of course, there would be another one the following week, but we chose to make the best out of day and promote Key Club to the highest extent. One way we promoted Key Club was by getting many people to ask what exactly Key Club is. Through both the entire first and second lunch, the officers ran around with orange tape (representing our mascot, the orange monsters). We began sticking the bright orange tape on people we were either friends or acquaintances with first. Most of these kids were either already in Key Club or had already known what it was. After awhile, many other students at our school began wondering what the orange tape was for since it was seen

“ We [have] monthly prizes for Key Clubbers who attend our morning meetings. ”

- Julie Nguyen

everywhere. Many began crowding the Key Club table wanting a piece of tape. We decided to only pass the tape out to the ones who were willing to actually join and sign up for Key Club. Their curiosity ran, and in the end, all the officers began explaining what exactly Key Club is to each person waiting by our table. We ultimately established knowledge of Key Club to almost half our school in one day.

“ This year, all our officers are going to strive to get to know each and every member of the club...by doing so, we will not only create a better environment, but also [promote] one of Key Club’s strongest values, inclusiveness. ”

-Kevin Tsai

Another way we promoted Key Club was with posters. Many of our students actually pass by or have class in our advisor’s classroom; therefore, we use this to our advantage and promote Key Club through the class. In our designated Key Club room, our mascot, color, and the words “Key Club” are seen all in the front. From what our advisor had said before, many of her students would ask her why the room was so decorated with such random things. She or another student would end up answering the question and explaining what Key Club with. We are still working on decorating the entire room to be covered with images of Key Club, which will hopefully come after more members join.

Including our brightly decorated classrooms, we also tend or dress brightly to try to get people to ask why. On certain days (usually on our meeting dates), each of the officers are to wear our divisional color, which is orange. Usually, many of our dedicated members join in and also wear orange. In the end, over fifteen people are covered in orange. The color orange is actually really bright and tends to stick out a lot. We use this attention grabbing color to make the other kids question why so many children are wearing orange. Ultimately, they ask the people who are wearing the orange (which would include me) on the reason why, and this is when we explain and promote Key Club.

“ Make [posters] colorful, fun, and attention grabbing. ”

-Albert Adefuin

Even though the school year has just begun, our Key Club has been trying hard on promoting the wellness of Key Club. We are not just planning on having small promotions on campus, but rather unique and large ones that will always stick in one’s head. Sheldon High School is still brainstorming many future events and promotional ideas. Hopefully by the end of the year, the entire school will understand what Key Club is and what we do on a weekly, monthly, and yearly basis.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS GOLF TOURNAMENT

On Saturday August 29, 7 dedicated LHS Key Club members went to the Rancho Del Rey Golf Club to help out with a fundraiser. This fundraiser occurs every other year, and raises money to help fund other Special Olympics activities such as the S.O Bowling tournament that occurs in October. Key Clubbers enjoyed an afternoon on the golf course. They admired the Golf Club's beautiful scenery with a blanket of green grass everywhere; during their break time of course. Also LHS Key Clubbers set up raffle and assisted in writing names down of people that wanted to participate in it. Also great prizes were given out to people who won in the raffle. During lunch time Key Clubbers helped set up tables and food, and also they served lunch to golfers at the Golf Tournament. Key Clubbers also picked up trash and recyclables, cleaning up after the event ended. Furthermore, these enthusiastic and committed LHS Key Clubbers enjoyed an awesome afternoon helping out at the Golf Club Tournament.

Judy Nguyen | DIVISION 4 North | Garden Grove High School

NANA'S KIDZ PACKING

Nana's Kidz Packing was an event where volunteers would pack bags with a variety of food such as dry, wet, and canned.

On August 29, 2009 Garden Grove High Key Club had eight participants helping out this event. We counted a total of 301 bags to pack. There were previous packed bags that were needed to be counted and taken out of the shed (which contributed 68 bags to the total). Afterwards, we took out boxes that are filled with food.

In each box there were rice, beans, macaroni, cereal, pasta, and canned goods. Each box is supposed to be able to fill up two bags.

" A cause like this is always heartwarming because we know it will help them with the upcoming school year. "

- Michelle Hour

As the sun rose higher and higher, more volunteers came to help. We were able to pack all the bags within an hour and a half. We ended the day by tearing down the empty boxes, putting all the bags back into the shed, and putting the tables away.

We ended the project with a smiley group picture. :)

YOUR FIRST KEY CLUB MEETING

ADRIAN FRANCISCO | DIVISION 07S | LAGUNA CREEK

August 26, 2009, Club Rush swept our campus. Numerous potential KEY clubbers swarmed our booth as I raised our club flag, waving proudly as students flocked our table. Approximately 200 names filled our lists that day, providing a viable idea for how many to expect at our meeting the upcoming Monday.

You would assume that less than a week was not enough preparation, but we were ready! We began preparing early June when school just ended. Hallie, our president, was really pushing our club goals. The sign up sheets at club rush surely displayed that we were well on our way.

Monday came quick after club rush. All our officers were dressed in orange, anxious-nervous about the whole thing. I even left fourth period a little bit early to set up, because I wanted it to go perfectly! The school bell rang, and all the officers gathered at the cafeteria. A cracked door waited for the incoming crowd. After about eight minutes, there were only one or two members coming in at a time. By the time ten minutes passed, the cafeteria was absolutely filled!

We waited a little bit longer to let the members socialize for a little bit as well as give us some more time to set up the video. Our president introduced herself soon after, and the meeting carried out. Playing videos from Fall Rally North and District Convention caused a riot in the mass. We kept the meeting short and sweet to try to maintain interest as much as possible. People were really eager to sign up for the events afterwards, proven by the constant: “Am I on the list?” the days after the meetings.

CNH District Treasurer, Jeremy Troung, commented saying that the meeting went smooth and it left the students wanting to join KEY Club even more. The diversity in the room also attributed towards the pros, and our faculty advisor said there was definitely less chit-chat than usual meetings. Afterwards, we had a board meeting to reflect on how it went and upcoming events and plans for future meetings. This was definitely a first good step to a great KEY club school year for our club!

“ We hope to stress the importance of dues and what it means to be an official Key Clubber. ”
